“ I remember John from long ago when he was part of group of us youngsters who grew up in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. John was between my older brother, Robert Gall, and me in age. The group consisted of neighborhood kids who played "on the block" together. John was one of the kindest people I ever met. My condolences to John's family. The world was a better place for John having been in it. Sincerely, Rita (Gall) Titlow, Naperville, IL.

“ I knew John for forty years or so through our respective railroad careers and shared love of railroading. We never did work together or live near each other but stayed in touch mostly through phone calls and email. My favorite memory isn't railroad related but is when my two granddaughters became suspicious that the Santa who called every December to check on their behavior was actually me. I mentioned it to John and we arranged for him to call them when I was there.... I wish I'd recorded the call but do have photos of the girls on the phone. John was a good friend, advisor and role model in many ways. R.I.P.

“ Hi, I am going to start with John did not really know me. At one of the darkest times of my life he came to my rescue and basically gave me a golden ticket which allowed me to retire early. John gave me this gift without any reservations.

My family will pray for John and his family.

My condolences.
