Bobbie Ann Cell, 73, passed away peacefully on Friday, June 12, 2026, in Libertyville, Illinois. She was born on February 20, 1953, in Riverdale, Michigan, where she was raised on the family farm.

Bobbie built a successful career in the apparel industry, becoming a leading buyer for several retail companies throughout the nation. During one of her business adventures in New York, she met the love of her life, Raymond Cell. The two married and made their home in the Chicago area, continuing their journey together and spending the past 25 years in Vernon Hills.

A talented artist, Bobbie loved oil painting and had a compassionate heart that touched everyone she met. She cared deeply for others, especially underprivileged children around the world. She was involved with organizations that created handmade items, including scarves and other necessities, which were donated to those in need. Bobbie truly had a heart of gold and always made sure that if someone needed something, she did everything she could to help.

She will be remembered as a one-of-a-kind woman whose kindness, generosity, and caring spirit enriched the lives of so many. Above all, Bobbie cherished her family and especially loved spending time with her grandchildren, who brought her immense joy.
