“ Don's smiling face at my house when we held the baby shower for Mary Ellen is my memory of him. Mary Ellen was pregnant with Ryan. I also remember all the sister's in my swimming pool to celebrate Mary Ellen's 50th birthday. They talked about how Don, their father, listened to each of them, spent time individually with them and how much fun he was. They love Don dearly. He is with our Lord Jesus so it is good. Rest peacefully Don. We will see you in God's timing.

“ Your father's kindness was overwhelming to me at a time when I had given up hope that anyone could/would help a southern Illinois victim of chemical spray when I was beyond being able to help myself at all. I assumed that he had died a long time ago...what a fighter and what wonderful achievements...altho it was evident from our visit in his home that his children were paramount. Wish that we had taken him up on his offer to spend the evening to tour the home that he was so proud of and to learn more about chemicals but I was too embarrassed by my condition. Irreplaceable man. We now have our own grandson with autism so we are learning much more about chemical exposures.
