“ I was a student of Professor Weiner at Lake Forest College (Class of 1966) and benefited greatly from his skills as a teacher and his generosity in terms of the many hours he invested in advancing my command of economics and advising me on my senior thesis, a copy of which, with his signature, I still have. We stayed in touch for a few years after I graduated and then lost touch when I moved out of the Chicago area and he left LFC to enter the world of banking. I tried in recent years to re-establish contact, but was not successful. Hopefully, he knew without being told again how grateful I was for all of his efforts on my behalf. Thanks to him, I was recently able to respond with great economic insight to a recent posting in favor of gay marriage that said, "The fact that you can't sell your daughter for two goats and a cow means that we have already redefined marriage." I hope George would have approved that, notwithstanding my strong support for gay marriage, I was able to respond, "Or it could mean that the supply of daughters has increased relative to the demand for them, or that the marginal utility of goats and cows has increased relative to that of daughters. May he rest in peace.
