“ We will miss John, a member of the Greatest Generation, who as a Navy pilot flew with first squadron of Privateer bombers sent to the South Pacific during World War 2. This squadron had heavy casualties. We will always be grateful to the men like John Anastos who's sacrifices gave us the freedom that we enjoy today. Dave and Julie Myers

“ To the family,
We are saddened to hear of your loss of John. You don't know us but we often sat with your parents at CLC concerts several years ago. Whoever got there first saved seats. We often talked about Carmel, the music, and the families. We knew them as very interesting and loving. I have never forgotten them. They also would send beautiful Christmas cards. One year they sent a pop up nativity set. Another time they send pop up helicopters. Those still go on Christmas trees. We know how much they loved you, and we will miss them, too. People don't forget God's gifts to others in friendship.

Fondly,
Angela and George Schneider

“ He was my Godfather and the most admirable person I have ever known. His parents were the finest people I have ever known. He was a Lt. Commander in the navy. He flew 51 missions in a B24 bomber. He was shot down numerous times and captured once. He represented the "Greatest Generation" He was the greatest of the great. My Prayers will always include him and his wonderful wife Adele. His legacy is evident. His family is wonderful. George P. Stray
