“Mrs. Van Sickle (I can't help but call her that) represents so many memories from my childhood that I cannot begin to put a number to them. I was one of the lucky children she "adopted" into her family. My heartfelt condolences to Mary, Melanie and Marty. Your mother was a gem and meant so much to me.

June was a force of nature. Whether it was community organizing, social justice, church activities or being the life of the party she was up for it. Our history crossed paths from our time in Chicago to our time in Libertyville. She was a constant gadfly, always pushing to make the world a better place.

Chicago has a reputation for being one of America's most segregated cities. But there was "one brief shining moment" in South Shore when folks of all backgrounds were neighbors in the best sense of the word. No one embodied that neighborly spirit of openness, care and generosity more than Mrs. VanSickle. She and my mother were great friends. My brother and I were welcomed and safe in her home and Marty was one of our good neighborhood buddies. I'm praying the comfort and healing power of God's Holy Spirit on Marty, Melanie and Mary. May your fondest memories of Mrs. VanSickle's sojourn in this world be ever accessible. May her example and lessons never be forgotten.

Numbers 6:24-26 to all who love her.

“ June had a passion for social justice. Working with June to found Lake County United led her to share stories from days on the South Side of Chicago. June was a courageous individual working tirelessly to correct injustices performed against disadvantaged residents in her neighborhood and later in Lake County.
