

Louis J. "Sonny" Sloan

January 12, 1948 - August 21, 2018

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

PP

“Sonny, Steve Woodruff (Woody), Barry Mraz and I played together in High School in a band called The Palomars. Sonny played rhythm guitar at that time. His bass playing and unique style on bass came later. We were in more than one band together. Sonny played trumpet, rhythm guitar and some keyboards. There was another guy in the Palomars that played bass. I don't remember his real name. He went to high school at the catholic high school with Barry. Sonny, Woody and I went to Libertyville High School! I played rhythm guitar in this period, but only rarely with the Palomars. With them I mostly sang. My voice was a little high pitched, but I could make screaming rock songs sound good! I saw something about Sonny on Facebook a few years back...I think he was playing in a son's (?) band out at Grays Lake somewhere. I know Barry passed in the early 90's and I have no idea whatever happened to Woody. I miss all you guys. I especially miss Sonny's impromptu concerts. We would rehearse at his house. Whenever we were all tired we'd sit around and Sonny would serenade us on the piano.

---

Paul Propst - March 03, 2019 at 01:12 AM