Patsy worked to put her husband Glenn through college and later they were both employed at Abbott Laboratories for 10 years. Together, they started their own plastic product design company in 1968 and as a full partner, she worked hard and was instrumental in making the company a success. She also supported her husband in his volunteer work within the plastics industry technical societies and trade associations. Her contributions in this area resulted in her being the only woman to be named as an honorary member of the Society of Plastic Engineers.

Surviving are her husband of 61 years, Glenn Beall, whom she met in high school; 2 sisters, Mildred Worrel and Del Jacobson, both of Kewanee, IL. She was preceded in death by her sister, Lois Hedley and brother Eldon Wheeler.

“ Dear Glenn,Please accept our most heartfelt sympathies. What a loss for you! Patsy was an extraordinary person, and we cannot imagine what it is like to lose someone who has been such a big part of your life since high school. Our contact with her always gave us the feeling that we wanted to get to know her better but circumstances at the ARM conferences seldom provided the time to do that although Anne-Grethe always enjoyed her company when the rest of us were working.We still recall vividly your kindness in offering us a place to park our trailer (we remember September 2005) and the difficulty we had in finding a level spot ?. It was a memorable and very pleasant experience for us.We too, shall miss her. Anne-Grethe and Einar Voldner
